

November 9, 2020

To whom it may concern

Letter of recommendation

This is my personal recommendation for Alexander Borisov. I have known Alexander for the past six years. We studied together at a Funabashi Japanese language school and also at a Kanda Institute of Foreign Languages. Alexander always approached his studies with full responsibility, showing the best performance not only in class but also being one of the best students in school.

From my own experience, I can say that learning foreign languages is a very difficult matter, but Alexander managed to achieve serious success in this so that meeting him at first time people might think that both English and Japanese are his native languages.

For four years we have also worked together in the bar restaurant as bartenders and thanks to his professional work and great sense of humor, the clients have always been extremely satisfied.

The difficulties that Alexander faced in his work, he always perceived as a challenge and overcame them with great enthusiasm.

As his friend, I can safely say that Alexander will always come to the rescue in a difficult situation.

I highly recommend Alexander for hiring. He is a team player and thanks to his desire to achieve results, Alexander would become an irreplaceable part of any organization

Kind regards

Sergey Fedotenkov

Amazon Web Services Japan

Logistics specialist| Data center operations

fedotenk@amazon.co.jp 070-1435-9787